One Group Completes, Another To Begin Six Months Army Duty

A group of Harrisburg young men have recently completed their six months active duty in the U. S. Army, as required under the new Army Reserve Program, have returned to their homes and several are now attending college.

The young men enlisted under a special program for boys between the ages of 17 to 18½ years of age, which allows them to fulfill their military obligation by serving six months active duty at a regular military installation and remain in an active reserve program for 7½ years.

The reserve activities include meetings of two hours each, one night per week and a two weeks duty tour during each summer.

Lt. Col. Harold R. James, Commanding Officer of the 347th Replacement Battalion, with headquarters in Harrisburg, stated today that although it isn't generally known, all men who enter the military service after August, 1955, either by being drafted or by volunteer enlistment, must, after their discharge, attend weekly meetings and go to summer camp with a reserve unit for three years.

In discussing the success and benefits of the military program as outlined by the new reserve act, Col. James stated it had accomplished much more than had been anticipated.

"It not only permits the young men to meet their military obligation with the least conflict with their future plans, but also provides time for the high school graduates to give serious thought to their future."

"So often the high school graduate is undecided as to what he wants to do. Six months of association with boys from all parts of the country, combined with directed training from the Army acts as a bridge between boyhood and manhood. I am sure that all the parents of the boys who have completed the six months training will agree in this respect," Col. James declared.

"With the six months active duty completed, the men now may plan their future, either in education or employment, without fear of interruption."

"We all must recognize that a man who is subject to the draft is penalized when seeking employment from organizations with training courses," the speaker said.

An all-out effort will be made, Col. James said, to get complete information on the Army Reserve Program to all boys between the ages of 17 and 18½ years of age and their parents.

Interested boys and their parents are invited to attend a meeting of the 347th Replacement Battalion. Meetings are held each Wednesday, 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., at the Armory, 26 South Vine street, Harrisburg.

Or if a parent would like for someone to visit in their home and explain the program, telephone Col. James, 436-J; Major Lonnie Lamkin, 1464-W; Sgt. Don Ramsey, 1447.

At Ft. Leonard Wood for the six months training program at the present time are John C. Wilson, Robert E. Patton, Bobbie Watkins, Teddy Price, Kenneth Price, all of Harrisburg; Bobby Carter, Galatia; Mitch Thraikill, Shawneetown; James Molinarolo, Muddy. All boys entered the military service through the local Army reserve unit.

Funeral Services Friday 2 p. m. For Levi Chitty

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 o'clock at McKinley Avenue Baptist church for Levi Chitty, a deacon of the church, whose death occurred early Wednesday morning. His body lies in state at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keltner, 115 East Rose street.

His wife, Mrs. Lilly Chitty is the mother of Mrs. Keltner and is a semi-invalid at the Keltner residence. Their own home is nearby.

Rainbow Rexall drug store will be closed from 1:45 p. m. to 3:45 p. m. Friday for the funeral of Mr. Chitty.

Mr. and Mrs. Chitty came to Harrisburg 13 years ago from Johnson county, where he had operated a farm east of Vienna for many years.

He was born in Williamson county in Wolf Creek community, Nov. 27, 1878. Three sisters and a brother preceded him in death. He has ten nephews in the McGee family in Williamson county, another nephew, Waldo Craig and three nieces, Ruby Verda, Maureen and Delores.

He and Mrs. Lilly Keltner were married in Johnson county in 1918.

They were members of the Grantsburg Baptist church in which he was ordained as a deacon. When they moved to Harrisburg they moved their membership to McKinley Avenue Baptist church, and aside from parttime employment as a drug clerk, Mr. Chitty had lived in retirement during his residence here because of ill health. He was a member of the Masonic lodge.

The Rev. J. D. McCarty will conduct his funeral service and burial will be at Wolf Creek cemetery in Williamson county.

Bertino Rites at Eldorado Friday

Trucks Collide; Driver Dunked In Icy Water

A West Frankfort truck driver was dunked in icy water and bruised but escaped death or serious injury at noon today in a collision of his truck and a pickup on Route 45 between Muddy and Wason.

Thrown from his truck was Frank Garvin, 56, of West Frankfort, driving a meat delivery truck for the Petroff Packing Co. of Benton. The truck overturned and barely missed landing on and crushing Garvin, State Police-man Roy A. Lane reported.

Lane said the accident occurred when the hood of a pickup truck, driven toward Eldorado by Alvin M. Colbert, 62, Herod, flew up and the vehicle veered into the lane of the approaching truck driven by Garvin. The two machines collided and the meat truck overturned.

Neither Colbert nor his passenger, Wilson Colbert, a nephew, were injured. There was considerable damage to both trucks.

To Crown Polio Queen at County Cage Tourney

Highlighting the Friday night session of the Saline County basketball tournament will be the coronation of the Saline County Polio Queen.

This will mark the third year the four high schools in Saline county have participated in a money-raising campaign for the March of Dimes in conjunction with the annual basketball tourney.

School candidates are selected by classes or home rooms and the girl receiving the most money for the March of Dimes is the school candidate for Polio Queen.

The school collecting the highest percentage of its quota will have its candidate crowned Queen.

The first two years of the program proved highly successful, with more than $2,220 collected in 1955 and $1,600 in 1956. All money was brought to Davenport gymnasium in pennies and although the thousands of one cent coins made for a sensational show, it was a terrific job to count and wrap the pennies.

This year the school principals decided to present checks totalling the collections in their schools.

Miss Kay Stone of Galatia was Polio Queen in 1956 and Miss Elaine Smith of Carrier Mills was Queen in 1955.

Each school winner is awarded a pin designed by Trifari of New York.

The national winner will be named May 2 at the American Table banquet in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York.

General Mills is sponsor of the program designed to assist schools in education for home and family living and to emphasize through a sound scholarship award program the personal qualities and sense of values necessary to successful homemaking. A total of $106,000 in scholarships will be awarded.

Each state Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 scholarship and an educational trip with her school adviser to Washington, D. C., colonial Williamsburg, Va., and New York City. Archie Pate and Brother Leave Home After Fight with Father

By SAM HANCOCK
United Press Staff Correspondent

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Archie Pate, 26-year-old turncoat GI who returned from Communist China less than two months ago with the statement he "never wanted to leave home," apparently has changed his mind again.

Archie, along with his 18-year-old brother Donald, left the rocky 78-acre farm which had once been part of his homecoming dream Wednesday following a fist fight with his father.

The split in the family became known Tuesday when the father hitched a ride into Carbondale to file an assault complaint against Archie and his younger brother. The father, Daniel, said the fight developed when his sons demanded money from a recent livestock deal.

"They both jumped me and knocked me down three times," he said.

The boy's mother, Zady, 46, interrupted and said, "Don't believe him."

She said she planned to leave the small farm also, taking with her two younger children, Jewell, 15, and Harold, 12.

The father said he wanted to stay on the farm but, "it looks like I'm going to have to sell out."

Archie and his brother reportedly took a taxi to St. Louis, Mo., Wednesday night, a distance of about 80 miles.

Deputy Sheriff Ray Dillinger picked the boys up at their home earlier and drove them to Murphysboro.

The father, displaying a black eye, dropped the assault charges after Archie told him he would "leave home within 24 hours and never come back."

There were reports that Archie also was involved in a beer-hall fight a few days ago following an argument over his three-year stay in China.

He returned home Dec. 7 and was welcomed with open arms by his family.

He was one of 21 American prisoners of war who originally refused repatriation at the end of the Korean War. Later, he said his captors "brainwashed" him but added he went to China partly "out of curiosity."

His trip home was financed by a State Department loan. Archie's mother said Wednesday she was sure her son, "will never come back."

She maintained her husband started the fight after the boys protested when he took half the money from a cattle sale. She said he "knocked Archie across the room."

The elder Pate left the house early Wednesday and did not return until he was sure his sons were gone.

Launches Blast With Dulles at Senate Hearing

Gruenther Says Ike Doctrine Needed But Involves Risk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles pleaded anew today for President Eisenhower's Mideast doctrine and ran into an unexpected face-to-face denunciation of his entire foreign policy.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) unleashed the surprise attack on Dulles during combined Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committee hearings on the "Eisenhower Doctrine."

Fulbright, second-ranking Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee called for a full review of the administration's apparent "failure" in foreign policy before Congress approves the "Eisenhower Doctrine."

With Dulles sitting stonily in the witness chair, Fulbright said approval of the new Mideast policy would constitute a "vote of confidence" in administration foreign policy. He said he needs "more convincing evidence" that those policies are in the U. S. interest before he votes to give Mr. Eisenhower authority to use American armed forces, if necessary, to combat any Communist aggression in the Middle East.

Involves War Risk
Fulbright's blast came amid these other developments:

1. The House Foreign Affairs Committee met in secret session to vote on the Middle East military-economic aid resolution. Approval by nightfall with few major changes was predicted. The resolution would authorize the President to use U. S. military forces as he deems necessary to help any Mideast nation seeking American help to resist Communist aggression. It would also let him use 200 million dollars of already appropriated funds and 400 million dollars of new money in the next two fiscal years for Mideast aid.

Colored War Dads Raided By City and State Police

The Colored War Dads at the George Smith place on East Gaskins street east of Route 45 was raided yesterday by city police, assisted by state officers, and a quantity of liquor, gambling items and furnishings were confiscated by truck.

The raid was led by Chief of Police Ross Lane, assisted by Patrolmen John Dunn and State Police-men Guthrie Alexander and Michael Taggart.

Lane said the raiders took with them a search warrant and arrested Jerry Manley, identified as the man behind the bar. Manley was charged with illegal sale of liquor and was released under $500 bond. Smith was not at home, Lane stated.

Trucked away were quantities of beer, whisky and wine, cards, dice and table, the bar, cash register, refrigerators, divans, a television set and radio.

Chief Lane said he had received definite information that the two Eldorado men involved in the crash fatal to one of them had first bought beer at Smith's place before going on to Shawneetown. The men were Hancil Farris, who was killed, and LeRoy Potts. With them was Walter Vaughn of Harrisburg, whom they had picked up in Gallatin county. Vaughn was seriously injured.

Wilson and the League

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

It is now 100 years since the birth of Woodrow Wilson, whom a substantial share of our historians consider one of the great American presidents.

Like many of our most celebrated leaders, he served in a time of national crisis. He saw the country through the first of the two great world wars.

Before our involvement in April, 1917, Wilson had broken new ground on the domestic front with a series of needed reforms. Viewed in historical perspective, these generally were moderate. But they were advances.

Once into World War I, Wilson charted a path which made his regime memorable not so much for the battles America won as for the kind of peace he sought to achieve.

Wilson's influence was pre-eminent in the establishment of the League of Nations. His name was a household word in European cities, and many avenues bear testimony to that fact. He worked with devotion and heavy concentration on the task of fashioning a lasting peace.

He did not succeed. The seeds of new trouble were planted in treaties made by hard-bitten diplomats mistrustful of Wilson's idealism.

As for the League, its ultimate failure was determined when Wilson's own country declined to join. Without America it could not command the world's full regard.

Today's historians, their judgment seasoned by the passage of more time since those events, question earlier conclusions that these were largely Wilson's personal failures.

Probably no man in Wilson's position could have over-ridden Allied diplomats bent on forging vindictive treaties.

And, battling for the League at home, he was no dreamy idealist seeking the millennium the day after tomorrow. There is considerable evidence that the League was doomed in America no matter who its advocate might have been.

Wilson, it is true, was not a politician's politician. He had had a meteoric rise from university president to White House, and his academic men tended to rebel the back-room manipulators who actually manage vital legislation.

Some historians seem to feel that professional political objections to the League converted this irritant into a handy excuse for beating down a proposal they would have blocked anyway.

However this great issue may finally stand, Wilson is secure in our history. He was a great orator—a fact often forgotten. But most of all, he spoke for the conscience of America and of free men as he pursued his dedicated quest for an enduring tranquility on earth.

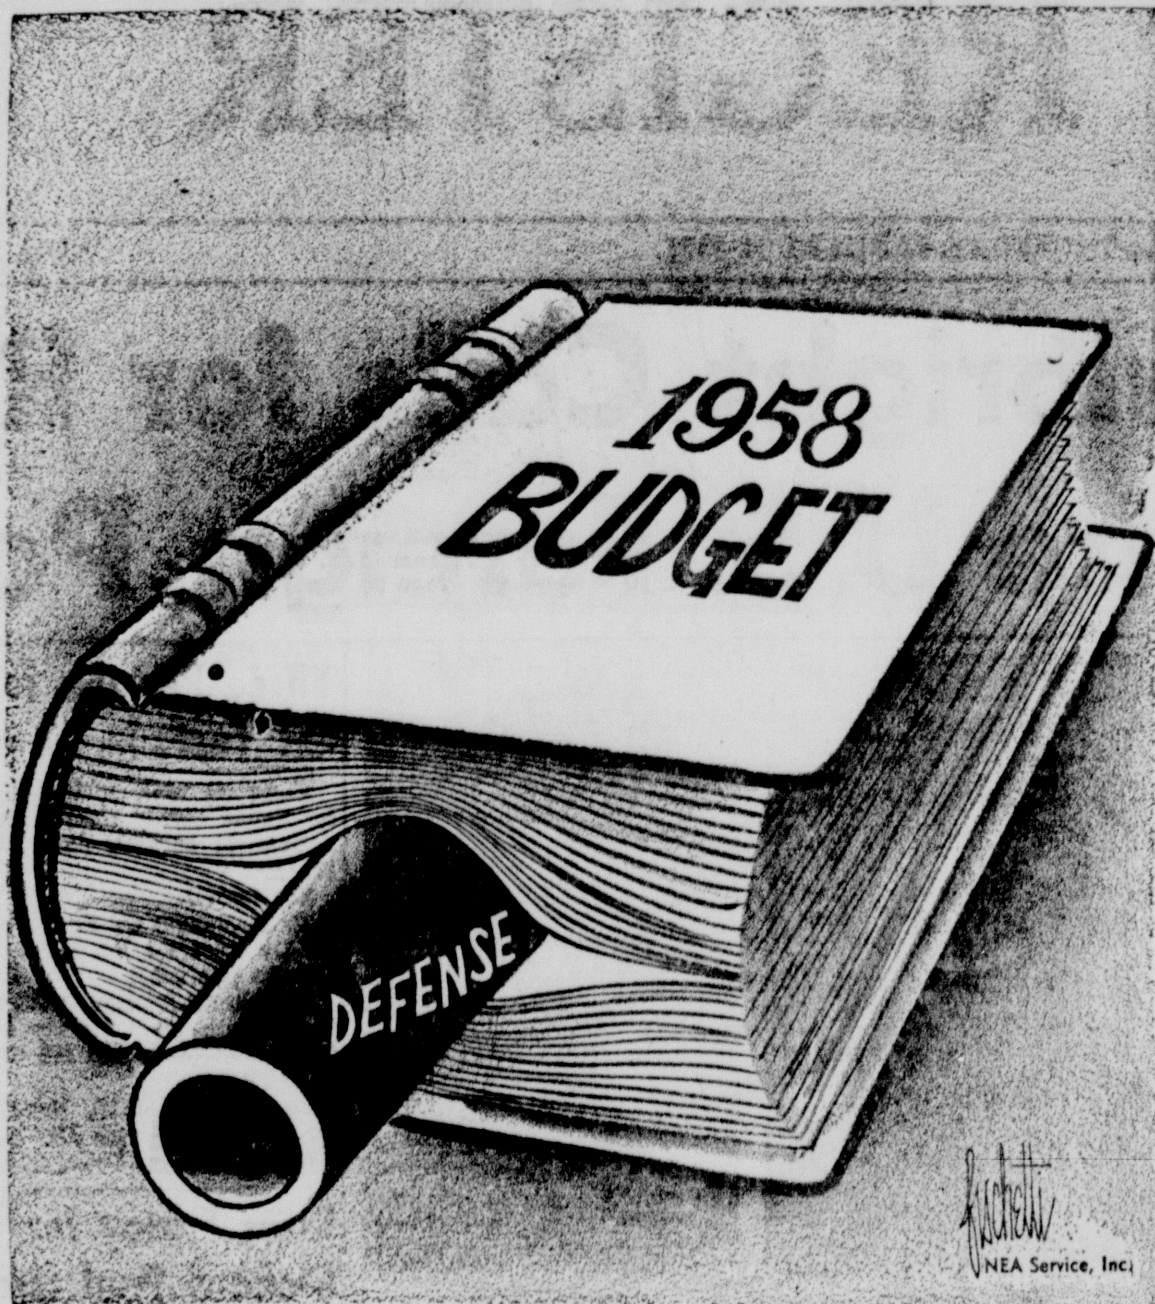

"Meet Corliss Archer" Selected for Senior Play at High School

"Meet Corliss Archer" has been selected as the HTHS Senior play. It was announced today by Miss Eleanor Etherton, HTHS English and Dramatics teacher. The play, a three act comedy by F. Hugh Herbert, was recently selected by a Senior committee of Pat Hodson, Janice Gidcomb, Joann Priest, Allen Burbank, Charles Ford, John Maszarski and Miss Etherton.

The play, with four men and eight women, is about Corliss Archer, who upsets her family because she has to write a character sketch of her mother for her homework.

Tryouts will be held next week and the play will be presented on March 1.

DREW PEARSON Says: TV Licenses Get Steeped In Politics; Boston Newspapers Will Get Juicy Plum Thanks To Political Pressure; Nazi Lobbyist Starts Work On Regaining German Property.

WASHINGTON. — GOP National Chairman Len Hall isn't supposed to meddle in its business, but he has been pressuring the Federal Communications Commission to grant a multimillion-dollar TV channel to the Boston Herald and Traveler.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R., Mass.), who also have nothing to do with the FCC, have added their political pressure. It now looks as if the commissioners, mostly Republican appointees, will give in.

This means they will not only overrule the FCC's veteran chief examiner, Col. James Cunningham, but will violate one of the FCC's own rules—namely, to diversify control of public channels of expression.

The Boston Herald and Traveler not only operates the big metropolitan newspaper, but also controls Boston's biggest radio station, WHDH. Now the papers are trying to add a TV station, worth an estimated $20,000,000.

In the past, the FCC has usually denied TV licenses to newspapers, especially if they already owned radio stations. Lately, however, powerful papers have had amazing success with their applications.

Colonel Cunningham, following FCC policy, ruled against the Herald and Traveler. His report favored two TV companies, Greater Boston TV and Massachusetts Bay Telecasters in which cartoonist Al Cap of Li'l Abner fame is a stockholder. A veteran career employee, Cunningham has been with the FCC far longer than any of the commissioners who are about to overrule him.

FCC TAKES ORDERS

After the Herald and Traveler lost out on merits, publisher Robert Choate started pulling political strings. He came to Washington to appeal his case. He did not appeal before the FCC, but to Chairman Hall, Secretary Weeks, and Senator Saltonstall.

These three powerful Republicans have no legal voice on TV licenses. Under the law, the FCC is supposed to be an independent agency free of pressure from the White House. Its decisions mean millions of dollars to the applicant so favored. That is why Congress established a quasi-judicial agency independent of the White House.

Nevertheless, it is no secret around Washington that the present commissioners are the most politically motivated in the FCC's history. They take their orders from Republican higher-ups to such an extent that they have made a farce of the hearing system. Most of the juicy TV licenses are now handed out as political plums. In fact, the FCC has so abandoned its legal duty of upholding the public welfare that congressmen are talking seriously of abolishing the agency.

Note — Senator Saltonstall reluctantly helped the Herald and Traveler in their application for Channel 5. The strong pressure came from Chairman Hall and Sinclair Weeks.

ADLAI AND JOE LOUIS

In Washington recently, Adlai

Stevenson was being ribbed about his "future plans" by Charles Kress, a New York Republican. "One more campaign wouldn't hurt you, Governor," said Kress. "You look fit enough to take on Joe Louis."

"From all I hear, Joe Louis is through with championship bouts. So am I," replied Adlai.

NAZI BANKER IN WASHINGTON

Herman Abs, the German banker who was a director of the Nazi-controlled Deutsche Bank under Adolf Hitler, has just entered the United States to direct the lobbying campaign for the return of German property, especially General Aniline and Film.

The war-seized firm, which makes Ansco film, has been awaiting sale by the Justice Department to new American owners. Meanwhile, the former German stockholders have been fighting a delaying action in American courts until their friend, Sen. Olin Johnston of South Carolina, can get a bill through Congress returning all war-seized assets to Germany.

Just why Johnston suddenly got interested in German property nobody but he knows. Meanwhile, Herman Abs will direct the group lobbying for passage of the Johnston bill.

NAVAL DEER HUNT

The biggest deer hunt in history took place recently at Cheatham Naval Annex on the York river near Newport News, Va. The admirals, plus other brass hats and later the enlisted men, were turned loose in a fenced-in preserve to shoot 500 deer — under rules laid down by the Virginia State Game Commission.

What happened was that the Naval Supply Depot, embracing about 2,800 acres of land and surrounded on three sides by a 10-foot wire fence, had collected, accidentally, about 2,000 deer. They had crossed the York river, got penned inside the Navy's property, and increased in number.

Finally, the State Game Commission advised the Navy that 500 should be killed to prevent disease and underfeeding. So the Navy declared open season between Nov. 19 and Jan. 5.

Deer hunting was permitted three days a week with a maximum of 20 persons per hunt. Hunters were limited to one deer per person per day, or no more than two deer per person for the season. In the end, 313 of the recommended 500 were shot.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Congresswoman Edith Green of Oregon resigned from the House Interior Committee in order to make room for her state's new representative, Al Uhlman. A seat on this important committee, which passes on reclamation projects, is valuable to any representative from the Pacific northwest. Despite this, Mrs. Green voluntarily switched to an unglamorous post on the House Administration committee in deference to a friend, though she remains on the House Education and Labor committee. . . . Ex-Air Force Secretary Harold Talbot once stated that the atomic plane was the Air Force's most vital project. He said it would be disastrous should the Russians build the first atomic bomber, capable of staying aloft almost indefinitely. Despite this, Secretary of Defense Wilson has cut the budget for the atomic bomber in half — which means that the first supersonic atomic plane will be delayed five years.

New York City boasted about 10,000 telephones in 1888; today, it has 3,695,000.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

That was a terrible crash you saw the other day. The cars involved were smashed beyond repair. Even if they could be fixed up they would scarcely be safe to ride in. The frames would be sprung. There might be hidden cracks which would break unexpectedly.

Yes, there were some people injured in the crash. They may discover internal injuries later. The shock may last a long time.

The cause? No one knows. Speed was involved. Carelessness is evident. Human error was part of the picture.

So it is with sin. The results are disastrous. The effects are long lasting. Innocent people are hurt. Human error and carelessness are involved. Temptation caused the sin or was it that we gave in?

Let us put on a campaign to diminish sin and save souls in the same way that we put on campaigns for safe driving.

SUGAR-COATED PRISON—This is a huge cake baked by Lowden Pankey of the Pankey Bakery and sent to U. S. Senator Everett M. Dirksen at Washington, D. C. The cake is Mr. Pankey's idea of a prison and that's what this area has been seeking—the federal maximum security hospital that is going someplace. He hoped that the cake would focus the senator's attention on this region, although it is reported that a committee will determine the site. Senator Dirksen, a baker himself before he got into national politics, wrote Mr. Pankey praising the work and declaring the railroads certainly did a wonderful job of carrying the cake as not a piece of it had fallen off when he got it. Saline County Garden Club Panel Discusses Newest Flowers For 1957

The Saline County Garden club held its regular meeting with Mrs. L. B. Kimmel, 110 West Lincoln, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Michael Reshete, the new president, presided. Twenty-five members answered roll call with "How many birds I'm feeding," which created a most interesting discussion. It was found that most all kinds of birds have wintered here since the weather had so far been mild.

Among the correspondence was a greeting from one of the members, Mrs. Bess Hagler, who is away from the city.

Reports were received from various committees such as auditing and beautification who reported on the contest of decorating homes for the Christmas holidays. This committee felt that more people should take an interest in decorating their homes in keeping with the Christmas season and enter the contest. It is also the desire of this committee that more care be taken with the shrubs placed by the club in various places over the city, as in many cases they are found neglected or improperly pruned.

The bylaws which were adopted in September were read by the club secretary, Mrs. Myrtle Myers.

Mrs. LeRoy Reese, program chairman, presented Mrs. Harry Harrelson, Mrs. Clyde Webber and Mrs. Ralph Brown, as a panel to discuss the newest flowers for 1957, such as magazine sweet pea, peacock morning glory, glorio, daisies, pink lily like the regal lily and many others, a new stock which will stand the very hot summer.

The flower arrangement was a vase of pussy willows prepared by Miss Maude Barter.

Mrs. S. M. Farrar gave the flower calendar for February. Mrs. Reese announced the La France Rose dated back to 1871.

Mrs. Kenneth White was a guest of the club.

After a most enjoyable program the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Hart, Mrs. George Lindenmuth, Mrs. H. N. Finney, Mrs. LeRoy Reese, Mrs. A. M. Hetherington Mr. J. W. F. Davis, and Mrs. Bolen Perkins, served ginger bread with whipping cream and hot apple juice.

The poem for the month is "God Bless Thy Year. Thy Coming In, Thy Going Out, Thy Rest, Thy Traveling About; The Rough, the Smooth, the bright, the drear, God Bless thy year."

American Legion Auxiliary Meets for Initiation Ceremony

The American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday evening for a most impressive initiation ceremony led by Mrs. Sibyl Whitley and the past presidents of the auxiliary.

Following the initiation the guest speaker, Senator Glen O. Jones, explained the legislature in an informative talk.

After the meeting a social hour was enjoyed with Cora Schwartz, Lily Wing and Laura Moore the committee in charge.

Plans were completed for a "galloping coffee" for polio to be held Saturday from 7 a. m. to 11 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Harry Barter, 14 West Walnut. Everyone is invited to attend and donate to the polio fund.

Mrs. Loretta Gullett, wife of Rev. L. L. Gullett, underwent major surgery at the Lightner hospital Monday and is reported as improving nicely. Her room number is 311.

GARDEN NOTES:

Guard Your Evergreens; Thaws, Rains May Cause Damage to Perennials

Following are notes of advice to flower gardeners, which have been submitted by the Saline County Garden club).

February and March are particularly difficult months for evergreens. If they are in exposed positions, where they get a lot of strong sunshine and sweeping winds, they should be protected with burlap screens, evergreen branches or by other means and if they are under overhanging eaves, they should be thoroughly watered during warm spells.

Watch your perennials carefully; thaws and heavy rains may cause them to heave out of the ground, or form puddles which will literally "drown" the plants, or if these puddles freeze over, exclude the air. You can often prevent damage by making a little ditch with a hoe. Iris planted the year before is especially likely to heave out of the ground when the ground has been frozen and it turns warm. You should watch these carefully and push them back in the ground, covering up the exposed roots and rhizomes. Also be sure your covering does not pack on plants.

If you like to raise your own plants, February is the month to sow such seeds as vinca, lobelias, begonias, snapdragons, delphiniums and coreopsis indoors. Might say, however, that if you have had coreopsis before, it will seed itself year after year, as will snapdragons sometimes.

Polio Drive Benefit Coffee Saturday Morning

Past Presidents of the American Legion Auxiliary was following through with a benefit for polio Saturday, which had its beginning with a party given by Mrs. Wm. G. Stratton on Dec. 5, when the Governor's wife launched a Women's polio drive.

On Saturday, Jan. 26, the Auxiliary past presidents are inviting their friends to drink a cup of coffee with them at the home of Mrs. Harry Barter, 14 East Walnut street, between 8 a. m. and 12 noon. Mrs. Herman Schwartz, community chairman of the auxiliary, said that all of the past presidents are helping and the affair is also a cooperative event in the Legion's "Pitch for Polio."

Loyalty Class Meets With Mrs. George Barker

The Loyalty Sunday school class held its January business meeting and social hour Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. George Barker.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Barker and the class song, "Loyalty to Christ," was sung by all present. Roll call was answered by Bible verses beginning with "J."

Plans were made to call on prospects for new class members. The devotion was given by the teacher, Mrs. Ruby Wilson, taken from 2nd Timothy, third chapter. Sandwiches, jello salad and Cokes were served to the following: Mrs. Mildred Atkinson, Bernice Pickering, Sybil Speaks, Ruby Gullede, Mabel Hancock, Margaret Shelton, Ruby Wilson and the hostess, Kathleen Barker.

Richard Lee Humm Has Party on 4th Birthday

Richard Lee Humm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hillary Humm, celebrated his fourth birthday Saturday, Jan. 19, with a party.

Games were played and David Kent Heine and Carolyn Wentzel were the prize winners.

Richard opened his gifts and after the toys were examined and played with by each one, refreshments of ice cream and birthday cake were served to the following: Billy John, Carolyn and Katy Wentzel, Stephen, Danny and Beth Ann Ragan, Charles Wayne, Stephen Lynn and David Kent Heine, Jeffrey Jones, Carlene Horton, Henry Humm, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Healy and Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ragan, Mrs. John Wentzel, Mrs. Charles Heine, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Horton and Mrs. Humm and Richard.

Favors of balloons and suckers were given to each one as they left wishing Richard many more happy birthdays.

Polio Inoculation Program Slows Down; Continues on Smaller Scale

By WARREN STROTHER
United Press Staff Correspondent
SPRINGFIELD — Illinois' big polio inoculation program has slowed down, but it is expected to continue on a smaller scale for at least the next two years, the State Health Department reported today.

Dr. Ruth Church, chief of the department's bureau of communicable disease control, said about $1,400,000 has been included in the department budget for the purchase of biologicals, including Salk polio vaccine for the two year period beginning next July.

The budget request must be approved by the state Legislature before the money is available. The 1955 Legislature appropriated $1,600,000 for emergency purchase of polio vaccine, plus about $380,000 for biologicals for other diseases distributed by the department.

Dr. Church said a separate appropriation solely for polio vaccine will not be requested at this session, so that part of the funds may be used to combat other diseases if necessary.

Can Meet Needs
The million-dollar state appropriation plus $3,015,315 in federal funds allotted Illinois for polio vaccine since the emergency program started in November, 1955, have been exhausted.

Future needs for vaccine will depend largely on how serious an outbreak of polio may develop.

Dr. Church would make no estimate of the amount of vaccine which the department now has for distribution, although she said "it should meet current needs." Some federal money allotted Illinois for child health work has been diverted to the purchase of polio vaccine.

Most of the vaccine distributed under the emergency program has been without cost, except that private physicians were permitted to charge for making inoculations. The vaccine was reserved for persons under 20 and over 6 months.

Grand Jury Refuses Indictments in Marie MacDonald Case

HOLLYWOOD — Refusal by the Los Angeles County grand jury to issue "John Doe" indictments in the Marie (the Body) McDonald kidnapping case meant a setback today for both the shapely blonde and police.

Miss McDonald failed Tuesday to get the grand jury indictments she sought against her two abductors as an answer to police skepticism concerning her kidnapping. Police failed in their attempt to prove that the case was a possible hoax.

The grand jury refused to issue indictments despite stating its belief that "a serious crime might have been committed."

Ex-CCC Official To Address Ag Banquet at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Earl M. Hughes, prominent Woodstock, Ill., farmer and past executive vice president of the U. S. Commodity Credit Corporation, will be the speaker for the annual Agriculture club banquet meeting at Southern Illinois University Jan. 31.

Hughes operates a large farm near Woodstock, producing hybrid seed corn and certified seed grains as well as engaging in beef cattle feeding and milk production for the Chicago market.

In order to devote full time to farming he recently resigned as executive vice president of the Commodity Credit Corporation, a multi-billion dollar federal agency which administers the farm price support operations of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He was appointed an administrator of the Commodity Stabilization Service of the Department in January, 1955. He also has long been active in farm organization work. A Rough Initiation To Auto Driving

BRIDGEPORT, O. — Four-year-old Terry Ikey has been cured of his curiosity about driving. While his father was inside a gasoline station, located on a grade here, Terry turned on the automobile's ignition, stepped on the accelerator, and the following events ensued:

The Ikey car, which the father had left in reverse gear, rolled backward down the hill and struck another car.

The second car was knocked over an embankment into a small stream.

The Ikey car kept rolling, hitting three other automobiles.

Meanwhile, the first car, only partly submerged in the creek, caught fire in the engine area.

Bridgeport firemen rushed to the scene, tying up traffic during one of the rush hours.

Little Terry, tossed around in his father's car as it swerved wildly here and there, was black and blue from bruises.

Total cost of Terry's "driving lesson": $1,900.

Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. He recently was elected a trustee of the University of Illinois.

The Agriculture dinner, highlight of the club's winter term activities, will begin at 6:30 p. m. in the University Cafeteria. Hughes' address, open to interested persons, will be at 8 p. m. in the cafeteria. Young area farmers completing the SIU Winter Short in Agriculture will be awarded certificates at the meeting.

Senate Group to Open Hearings on Price Increases for Newsprint

WASHINGTON — The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee plans to open hearings next month on recent boosts in the price of newsprint.

Committee Chairman Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said Wednesday publishers, paper manufacturers and government agencies have been asked to testify. He said the hearings starting Feb. 26 "may continue for some time."

He said the recently announced $4-a-ton hike in newsprint prices "imposes a hardship on a great segment of the American press and other newsprint users."

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), new chairman of the Senate Anti-Monopoly subcommittee, said earlier the group plans to use some of the $300,000 investigative budget it has requested to look into the newsprint price increases.

Magnuson said his group will study "possible new production sources"—like Alaska—and development of processes for "re-using" paper supplies—like de-inking. He said it also will study the pattern of newsprint prices of present suppliers in recent years.

Magnuson said the free world should "logically" look to America for an adequate supply of newsprint. He said newsprint "is one commodity that the whole world uses and prices should be in reasonable reach so the free world can use it."

Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) first suggested the newsprint investigation to Magnuson and asked the Commerce Department and the Federal Trade Commission for their views on the $4-a-ton price hike which boosted U. S. rates to $134 a ton.

Recover Bodies Of 3 Children

CRANFORD, N. J. — Grappling recovered the body of Richard Johnson, 9, today from the frigid Rahway River a block from where the frozen corpses of his younger sister and another boy were found Wednesday night.

Richard's body was found by searchers who had resumed grappling the river after daybreak. The river ice has been a death trap for other youngsters in the past.

The frozen bodies of Richard's sister, Martha, and Philip Harrington Jr., both 7, were found by a search party near where two other children drowned in 1952 and 1948.

The children's rigid bodies, their arms outstretched for aid, were hooked with grappling irons under the South Avenue Bridge, a quarter mile upstream from Droscher's Mill Dam.

The dam has been one of the community's winter play spots for children for years. Two-year-old Joseph Behan plunged through the ice of the river and drowned March 27, 1952. Peter Shoukimas, 5, had drowned in a similar accident on 14, 1948.

The victims were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Philip O. Harrington. Johnson is a locally prominent attorney, and Harrington is a ship superintendent for the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp. in Staten Island, N. Y.

Godfrey Receives Permit to Broadcast From Aboard Plane

WASHINGTON — Arthur Godfrey received permission Wednesday from the Federal Communications Commission to make international radio broadcasts from aboard his plane while on a trip to French Equatorial Africa.

Godfrey will make the broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System while he is flying over the Atlantic and later while he is in Africa. He is scheduled to begin the trip Feb. 1.

Sunday Tour Group to Explore Brown Hole Cave Near Cave-In-Rock Jan. 27

Plans are complete for exploring Brown Hole Cave, four miles east of Cave-In-Rock, on Sunday, Jan. 27. One stalactite about two feet thick is a solid pillar from roof to floor of the cave. Land owners have given permission without responsibility for accidents. A hunting dog once fell into the entrance hole nearly 60 feet to the first level and hunted again the next day, but parents are warned that children might not be so lucky.

The Minerva Fluorspar mine will have a winch truck with steel cable ready to help. Cecil Blakley, county assessor and treasurer who first explored the cave about 30 years ago, will be there with other tackle. He knows of many other underground passageways, one with a well 150 feet deep. At another the rain enters a hole high on a bluff and comes out half a mile below in "Blowing Cave." Color photographers with flash equipment and strong search lights are invited.

As in other Sunday Auto Tours the starting point is at the intersection of Routes 34, 45 and 145 at the southeast edge of Harrisburg at 9:30 a. m. Others may meet at 10:30 at the intersection of Routes 1 and 146, two miles north of Cave-In-Rock, just south of Mr. Blakley's home. Others wishing to join in their own cars are invited to bring their own lunches, hot drinks, cameras, ropes, flash lights, comfortable walking shoes and warm, rough clothing, suitable for crawling and climbing.

There will be members of the Ozark Tours, Greater Egypt Association, Shawnee Hills Recreation association, The Upper Fortians, Explorers' club and others interested in promoting the natural attractions of southern Illinois. "White Eagle" of Mt. Vernon is expected to be there to verify that there is a Brown Hole Cave.

There is no charge or any financial obligation for this good will promotion, except friendly cooperation, with each carload being fully responsible for its own group.

Bordon Store
Leland Hayes has returned home from the hospital where he has been a patient for the past week. Patty Karnes was a dinner guest of Miss Mary Margaret Small Thursday evening.

Mrs. Myrtle Stricklin had as her dinner guests Sunday her daughter and family, Mrs. Robert Taylor, of Pankeyville. Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDougal of Harco visited with Lemuel Hayes Monday evening.

But the House committee staff reported last week-end that the increase in the interest on FHA loans had apparently failed to produce any step-up in the FHA housing program.

NO WONDER Most Guesses are Hundreds Too High!

★ If you think this Chieftain Pontiac looks out of place in the low-price field, you've got plenty of company. But there it stands . . . in solidly with the so-called low-priced three—a big, bold, beautiful eye-opener with not a thing to remind you of its very modest cost. Start with looks. Here's the distinction of clean, unfrenzied, straight-to-the-point Star Flight lines that are built in, not improvised. But it's in the performance department that the price guesses really run wild! Drive it and see for yourself. Pontiac's big 347 cu. in., 10 to 1 compression ratio V-8 doesn't know what strain is, no matter what you demand of it. New precision-touch handling makes "driving effort" a term only for your memory book. And the Chieftain's 122-inch-wheelbase Level-Line Ride is so smooth that only the passing road signs remind you that you're earth-bound. In fact, nothing in the low-price field even comes close to matching the Chieftain in power, wheelbase or features! But if you think all this is beyond your reach, a visit to your Pontiac dealer for a talk about price will put you in that wonderful club of new-car owners who have discovered that Pontiac's rewriting the book in the low-price field!

A DOCTOR for BLUE JAY COVE
By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

Copyright 1956 by Elizabeth Seifert. Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: Dr. Alex Ward's bride is unhappy; he has quarreled with the owner of the private hospital where he has a residency; his sister has eloped with a man she knew only three weeks, the chief surgeon is neglecting his wife for another woman, and now Alex's mother, Aunt Cordy, has had a stroke.

XVIII

Tinged by the bone-weariness that marked the first days of Aunt Cordy's illness, three weeks went by.

Both Matt and Sue were faithful in their attendance, and resourceful in their efforts. The nurses on duty took excellent care of the sick woman. Alex and Cass each lost 10 pounds—and Aunt Cordy developed the ability to say "Hey!"

Her eyes were her chief means of expression; they showed apprehension which amounted to terror.

"Why is she afraid?" asked Cass.

It was Alex who used the word apprehension. It was, he said, a normal thing in such cases. "The patient realizes he has lost control of life. For Aunt Cordy, that realization is very hard to take."

By the end of three weeks, Cass realized that already it was too late for her to make a free choice about caring for Aunt Cordy and the Haven. Without children or other obligations, and on the spot at the time of crisis, within hours after Aunt Cordy's collapse, she found herself expected to substitute for the sick woman. That first morning she supervised the breakfast preparations; she planned the meals for that day, and for the next, and the next. She shopped, she paid bills—she fired a dishwasher, and hired another.

She was caught, and she knew it—but panic subsided with experience.

At the end of that critical three weeks Alex told Cass that they should move his mother to the hospital. As advisable, various therapies would be tried.

"I was just wondering why you thought the hospital would do better for your mother than we're doing here."

"They'd do as well," said Alex, somewhat sternly. "And I was considering you."

"Oh?"

"Yes. If we'd put Aunt Cordy into the hospital, or a nursing home, we—you and I could go on as we had planned."

"As we planned before she became ill?"

"Yes, Cass."

Cass listened to him. But when he again suggested moving Aunt Cordy, she said that she felt decency required them to stay on as they were, for a while.

"How long will this 'while' of yours last?" Alex asked quietly. "Oh, I don't know. But let's not do anything just now. I'm sure it would be better to hold on here at least until Marcy comes."

They hadn't done much talking about Marcy's affairs. Cass sensed that the minute she saw the tall young girl. She was pretty, well-dressed—Cass herself might have selected the beige tweed suit, the jersey turban and the calf-skin shoes. Marcy Powers was a sweet girl, and coolly poised.

She greeted Cass affectionately.

"Alex has told me what a blessing you've been to us."

She went immediately into her mother's room, and let herself be enveloped in Aunt Cordy's embrace, still managing to seem aloof from it.

Cass, at the doorway, watched, and listened. It began to seem as if Aunt Cordy's smothering, protective love had only produced in Marcy a strong determination to develop and retain her own personality. If that were true, she would in due degree offer herself as a substitute for Cass with the sick woman.

"You look fine," Marcy told her mother. Aunt Cordy lifted her helpless right arm with her left hand. "I know you've been sick," said Marcy, and turned to leave the room. "I'm staying around for a while."

She wasn't flip, or unfeeling—she just didn't have any more to say. Alex lifted an eyebrow to Cass. "She doesn't chatter like she used to," he said.

"Fast talk, he means," laughed Marcy. "I used to rattle along with the best of them."

It was supper time, and they went out to the table. The talk for a while concerned Aunt Cordy, with some mention made of the difficulties her condition entailed.

"Cass takes her behavior much more patiently than I would," said Alex.

"Or I, probably," said Marcy. "Heavens, yes!" agreed her brother.

They were very much alike, Cass had decided. Marcy was blonde; Alex had black hair. But the features of their faces were as identical as is possible with a pretty woman and a virile man. Both had a way of smiling with their eyes more often than with mouth and cheek muscles. That gave them a certain air of reserve.

"We've always fought with Aunt Cordy," Marcy now told Cass. "I was noisy about it. Alex was more quiet. But we both fought with her."

No mention was made of his sister's husband. Cass renewed her conviction that Marcy had not talked of her marriage to Alex on the drive home.

After dinner, Marcy asked to see their apartment, and went over with Cass. "I'm glad you're being so good to our boy," she told Cass. "He's rather special."

"I think so, too," said Cass earnestly.

"Law of averages should give one of us a matrimonial break," said Marcy, peering at herself in the bathroom mirror.

State Police Districts

10, 13 Tie for First

In Annual Inspection

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Results of the annual inspection of all Illinois Highway Police districts showed that Districts 10 and 13 ended in a tie for first place, Chief William H. Morris said today.

Judging for the inspection competition was based on six categories: military drill, military courtesy and discipline, headquarters inspection, personnel inspection, cars and equipment and extra uniform clothing.

District 10, with headquarters at Urbana, and District 13, with headquarters at Du Quoin, both had scores of 99.36 per cent. Second place went to District Two, headquarters at Elgin, having 99.08 per cent. District Two won last year with a score of 99.01 per cent.

Overall division average climbed from 96.47 per cent in 1955 to 98.12 per cent in 1956. Less than one percentage point separated the first seven places and only three points separated all districts.

Districts 10 and 13 will receive plaques for their high rating. Special commendation was given to 13 of the 14 districts for scoring perfectly in one or more of the six judging categories.

Warden Ross V. Randolph to Speak At Dist. Methodist Laymen's Meeting

Ross V. Randolph, warden of Menard State Penitentiary, will speak at a district Methodist Laymen's meeting Saturday, Jan. 26. The meeting, which 200 to 300 laymen from the church in the Harrisburg District are expected to attend, will begin at 7:30 p. m. at Wesley Center. J. O. Hall, district lay leader, will be in charge of the program.

Warden Randolph's topic will be "Religion In an Inmate's Life."

Mr. Randolph is a native of central Illinois and previous to his law enforcement career was principal of the public schools at Kenney, Ill., from 1927 to 1932.

Following his teaching position he accepted an appointment as Director of Education at Illinois State Penitentiary, Pontiac, Ill. Later he was State Parole Agent and at the time of his employment by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in 1941, he was assistant superintendent of parole supervision for the state of Illinois.

During his 11 years in the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a Special Agent, he was assigned at various times to the offices in Huntington, W. Va., Boston, Cincinnati, Springfield, Ill., and at the FBI headquarters in Washington, D. C., where he was a supervisor for Director J. Edgar Hoover.

He resigned from the FBI in 1952 to accept the position of Administrative Assistant to the governor, which position he held until he was appointed warden at Pontiac Division of the Illinois State Penitentiary. On Feb. 1, 1953 Gov. William G. Stratton appointed him warden of the Menard branch of the Illinois State Penitentiary.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS:

The Old College at Creal Springs

By JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

Shurtleff College, known as the oldest institution of learning in the state above the level of the grade school, will close its doors at the end of the current school year, according to a recent announcement. Thus it will join a host of other academies and colleges that have passed on in Southern Illinois.

In their day these schools attracted numerous students, exerted much influence over the region about them and left a great body of tradition.

One such school that came, flourished for a time and then vanished, was at Creal Springs, south and east of Marion in Williamson county. This village had already become widely known as a health resort, a place where many came to drink the waters of the numerous mineral springs found there or to take mineral water baths. Creal Springs also was widely known as a place where church gatherings and G. A. R. reunions were held.

Born Near Bainbridge

It was to this town that Henry Clay Murrah and his wife Grace Brown Murrah moved shortly after their marriage in 1880. Both had received college training and had been teachers. It was not unusual, therefore, that they should become much interested in education, so much so that they decided to establish a girls' school under the direction of Mrs. Murrah.

Grace Brown was born near the village of Bainbridge, once the county seat of Williamson county, about four miles west of Marion. She attended the Brownsville country school, later going to Southern Illinois College at Carbondale, to the State Institute at Flora, and to Ewing College. She also attended the collegiate department of Mount Carroll Seminary at Mt. Carroll, Illinois, from which she was graduated in 1875. After attending these schools, she taught in country schools, in the high school at Frankfort, and in Ewing College before beginning her 32 years of service at the school she was so instrumental in establishing at Creal Springs.

The story of this college and of Mrs. Murrah's part in it is well outlined in "Horse and Buggy Days", a booklet published by her son, Charles M. Murrah, in 1937. From it we learn that in March 1884 they acquired title to a five acre tract of land in the village "to be used for school purposes." The construction of the main building—a basement and three stories plus attic structure—was begun immediately. It was completed and ready for use on September 22, 1884, when the first term began.

Six Members of Faculty

The school had been planned as one for girls. On the first morning, however, as many boys as girls appeared, three of each. It was therefore decided to make it co-educational. Students continued to arrive throughout the term, and before the end of the first twelve weeks 59 students had been enrolled. Twelve of these were on the collegiate level, whatever that may have meant. Thirty-one were in the preparatory department, seven in the primary, and nine were special students of music.

The first faculty of the Creal Springs Academy consisted of six members. H. C. Murrah, who also did some teaching, was listed as proprietor and Grace B. Murrah as principal, which office she continued to occupy until the school closed in 1916. The name of Creal Springs Academy was changed to Creal Springs College and Conservatory of Music. By this time the number on the faculty had grown to 15 and the student enrollment to almost 100. Baccalaureate degrees were granted in the "classical," "Latin-Scientific" and "Philosophical" fields. An additional year could provide a master's degree. It had grown into a respected school.

The curriculum offered was varied. It was boasted that the college offered one of the most thorough courses in history, three years of general history preceded by one year of American history. T. O. Hawkins taught "muscular penmanship" that would eliminate the "cramped and tiresome finger movements." In addition to the common branches of learning, the school offered Latin, Greek, German, French, analytical geometry, calculus, typewriting, elocution, shorthand, physical culture, pedagogical studies, music, and art.

Forced to Close

The beauty of the region as one in which an artist might well work was emphasized and it was said, "Any girl can, by putting in her spare moments, decorate the walls of her home with paintings made by her own brush."

Music courses "followed the methods of the Conservatory of Music in Brussels, Belgium."

A department of theology was maintained. In order to be admitted an applicant was required to furnish a "certificate to his character" from the church where he held membership. He must also have received a "call to gospel ministry" and must demonstrate "intellectual fitness." This course extended over three years during which the student might pastor churches if it did not interfere with his studies.

There were literary societies, school papers, varied social activities and above all the annual commencement and reunion. Programs of an annual commencement and of the "Eriea" society list a wide range of offerings. Among them are declamations, orations, original poems, vocal solos, duos, trios, and quartettes, piano solos and duets, recitations, and a harp duet. Commencement week was a truly great one.

With passing years financial problems came to beset the school. These reached such proportions that the institution was forced to close. The last students departed on Christmas Eve, 1916, and the doors of the strange appearing three story frame building were locked, not to open again for school use. Mr. and Mrs. Murrah went to live in a nearby cottage. Mrs. Murrah lived on until 1929, never ceasing her effort to reopen the school to which she had given so many years of unselfish service. The building stood until 1943, when it was dismantled. No memorial remains to mark the site of the Creal Springs College and Conservatory of Music.

Wife of Airline Pilot Named Polio Mother of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis today named Mrs. David Phillips, 33, Los Gatos, Calif., as the 1957 "polio mother of the year."

Mrs. Phillips, wife of a United Air Lines pilot, has three children—all of whom also were victims of the disease. Mrs. Phillips, who was stricken Oct. 13, 1951, spent one year confined to a respirator and two years in a hospital. She was paralyzed from the neck down but today is sufficiently recovered to do some of her housework and to garden.

The children — Eugene, 14; Tommy, 9, and Lani Sue, 7 — became ill the same year as their mother, but were less seriously affected.

Don Larsen Rejects Yanks' First Offer; Seeks $27,500 Pay or Threatens to Quit

NEW YORK — General Manager George Weiss of the New York Yankees parried Don Larsen's opening bid for a $27,500 contract today on the theory that one perfect game doesn't make a season.

"Don will get every consideration in his new contract for having pitched his masterpiece," said Weiss in reply to the World Series hero's demand. "But we have an entire season to think of, too, and how many games did he win — eight or nine."

Larsen, who actually had an 11-5 record during the regular American League campaign, announced in San Diego, Calif., Wednesday that he has returned the Yankees' first offer unsigned and added that he might quit baseball if his demand is not met. It was reported by a source close to Larsen that the Yankees had offered him about a $4,500 increase.

Quitting Talk Not Serious
Weiss refused to discuss figures but made it plain he isn't taking Larsen's talk of quitting baseball seriously.

Weiss said his next step, after actually receiving the rejected contract, "will be to decide whether to offer Don a new contract calling for a little more money or discuss the matter with him so he sees our point of view. He laughed off suggestions that any "emergency head-to-head meeting" might be called, explaining, "some players have a way of asking for a lot more than they ever expect to get."

Larsen, who achieved his unique share of immortality with his perfect game against the Brooklyn Dodgers, Oct. 8, joined slugger Mickey Mantle as a Yankee holdout. Mantle, the American League's triple crown winner and Most Valuable Player, is demanding $60,000.

Had Been Disappointment
Larsen was a disappointment to the Yankees until September when he started to use his now-famous "no-windup windup." He reeled off four consecutive fine performances at the close of the season, was knocked out of the box in the second game of the World Series but in the fifth contest achieved the only perfect game in Series annals.

It's on the basis of the "perfect game pitcher" that he's making his salary bid but it's plain that it's on the basis of the "imperfect season pitcher" that Weiss is countering with his own offer.

Father Files $150,000 Suit for Injury of Jockey

PEORIA, Ill. — A $150,000 damage suit was filed here Wednesday by the father of an 18-year-old jockey who allegedly was injured in a fall from a horse at the Fairbury, Ill., fairgrounds last summer.

The suit alleges that David Mann was pushed from a horse during the race. It charged another jockey, Glen Spraggins, "used his whip, arms and body" to push Mann from his horse.

Named defendants in the suit were the Fairbury County Fair Assn. and the Fairbury American Legion Post. They did not properly check the qualifications of the jockeys, the suit charged.

Papers filed in the suit said the youth was "permanently injured" and sustained a "permanent amnesia condition" because of the fall.

Arrested for Posing as Grid Star Lou Groza

MIAMI, Fla. — Husky Anthony Brown, 33, accused of impersonating pro football place-kick artist Lou (The Toe) Groza, went before U. S. Commissioner Roger E. Davis today for a preliminary hearing.

Charles E. Weeks, special agent in charge of the Miami FBI office, announced Wednesday night agents arrested Brown in a hotel room here on a federal warrant issued at Jacksonville charging him with interstate transportation of a $150 worthless check.

Brown's arrest ended a long search by federal and local officials in a number of eastern and southeastern cities for a man who has been posing as the Cleveland Browns football star and bilking those who believed him out of hundreds of dollars.

Weeks said the check which Brown cashed in Jacksonville was signed with Groza's name and was drawn on the non-existent "Cleveland First National Bank."

It is "anticipated that Brown has cashed numerous other checks and the investigation is continuing," the FBI said. Brown was confined in the Dade County Jail pending his preliminary hearing.

In Cleveland, Groza told United Press similar reports of his name being falsely used have turned up in New York, Philadelphia, Jersey City, N. J., New Orleans and Savannah, Ga.

The FBI said Brown told agents he was on probation in Pennsylvania for charges similar to those on which he was arrested here.

Celtics Rout Nats, 140-108

By United Press
A scoring spree that missed the National Basketball Association record by a single basket helped the Boston Celtics boost their Eastern Division lead in the pro loop today to five full games while the Minneapolis Lakers gained a tie for first place in the West.

The Celtics settled for a team record in a 140-108 rout of the Syracuse Nationals at Boston Garden Wednesday night, just missing the NBA record of 142 points set by Philadelphia in a game against Boston last year.

Seven of the 10 Celtics scored in double figures, led by Bill Sharman's 22 points and Frank Ramsey's 20, but Togo Palazzi of the Nationals, an ex-Celtic, gained game scoring honors with 25 points. Boston held a 64-41 half-time margin and then soared home with 76 points in the second half.

Minneapolis downed Rochester, 107-99, to tie for the Western lead with Fort Wayne, which lost to St. Louis, 101-78, in a game played in Charlotte, N. C. In the other game Wednesday night, Philadelphia took second place in the Eastern Division away from New York by beating the Knicks, 99-93.

Saline County Tournament to Begin Friday at Davenport Gym

Carrier Mills is Only Undeclared Team Entered

The annual Saline county basketball tournament starts tomorrow night at Davenport gym and the tourney has the distinction of having the only undeclared prep team in southern Illinois entered.

All cage fans know this quintet is the Carrier Mills Wildcats, who have moved over all opposition, including all three of the other participating teams—Harrisburg, Galatia and Eldorado.

There will be two games each night but the pairings will not be known until 6:15 p. m. tomorrow, 45 minutes before the first game.

At 6:15 p. m. team captains will participate in a drawing at the gym, each one drawing a number from one to four.

Teams drawing 1 and 2 will play Game 1 at 7 p. m. and those drawing 3 and 4 will play at 8:30.

Winners of the games will play at 8:30 p. m. Saturday for the tournament championship, preceded by the game for third place at 7 p. m.

Popular Tournament
This is the fourth year that the Saline County tournament has been in progress and every year it has been highly successful—both financially and to lack of "rhubarb." Fans of the county appear to realize that they have a good thing of it in this tourney and hope to keep it going from year to year.

A look at the season records of all the participating teams reveals that Carrier Mills has beaten Eldorado twice and Harrisburg and Galatia once each. Harrisburg has beaten Eldorado the only time the teams have met and Galatia has beaten Eldorado in their only meeting.

Handsome trophies have been received for first, second and third place winners.

Game officials will be Ted Tilden and James McCoskey of Murphysboro, Claude Rhodes of Benton and Joe Spagnoli of Hurst. Jim Beers will be timer and Ben Chambers scorer.

Admission prices for each session are: Reserved chairs $1, adult general admission 75 cents, student general admission 35 cents.

Adjutants Offer Counter Proposal For Guard Recruits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-seven state adjutants general have made a counter proposal to the administration's plan that would require all National Guard recruits to take six months active duty training.

The adjutants general proposed Wednesday that guard recruits between 17 and 18½ be given 11 weeks training and those between 18½ and 25 six months.

The National Guard fears that the longer training for all recruits would discourage volunteers.

At the same time, the administration moved to rally congressional support for its own tougher program.

President Eisenhower and Army Secretary Wilber M. Bruckner outlined the administration plan at a White House meeting of GOP legislative leaders. Later Republican Leader William F. Knowland laid it before the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Dishwasher with Ducktail Haircut Questioned in Girls' Slaying

CHICAGO (AP) — A dishwasher who affects Elvis Presley sideburns and a ducktail haircut was questioned today about the strange deaths of two teen-aged sisters.

Authorities identified the new suspect only as "Benny" and flatly refused to give any further details.

But witnesses said Benny, in his early 20s, was seen Jan. 6 in a Skidrow restaurant with two young girls.

Two persons said the girls resembled Barbara Grimes, 15, and her sister, Patricia, 13, whose nude and frozen bodies were found Tuesday in a ditch on the city's outskirts.

The dishwasher was arrested Wednesday night in the Star and Garter theater on Skidrow.

A sheriff's officer acknowledged making the arrest but refused to say more. Chicago police complained that they were not informed of the arrest and said it violated a pledge of cooperation among the various law enforcement agencies. They looked "sick."

Mrs. Minnie Duros, 68, who with her husband owns the D and L restaurant, said the Grimes sisters came into the restaurant with Benny about 5 a. m. Jan. 6, nine days after they had disappeared from home.

Mrs. Duros was shown photographs of the sisters and said, "I'm sure they were the Grimes girls."

In addition to Benny, a dark-complexioned man, a Mexican or Puerto Rican, was with them, she said.

A cab driver who saw the girls in the restaurant also identified them as the Grimes sisters. He said they looked "sick, drugged or drunk."

Mrs. Duros said the girls and the two men ate breakfast. She said the older girl appeared to be "in bad shape."

She said they got into a car with the two men and drove off, but returned about 9 a. m. with Benny, ate again and left.

Cause of Death Unknown

Dr. Jerry K. Kearns, one of three pathologists who conducted Wednesday's autopsy, said it may take several days to determine the cause of death.

"The murderer in this case was diabolically clever," Kearns said.

"He used a method which we are unable to detect. Perhaps he is a person trained in chemistry and with a knowledge of unusual poisons."

Congressional Budget-Cutters Search For Places to Trim Eisenhower Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional budget-cutters of both parties began searching today for places to trim President Eisenhower's record $71.8 billion spending program for the new fiscal year.

Rep. John Taber (R-N.Y.), ranking GOP member of the House Appropriations Committee, set as his goal a slash of at least $1 billion and possible as much as $3 billion.

Committee Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) declined to pick a figure as yet but promised to trim out of the budget — biggest ever in peacetime — "everything we can." Cannon has branded the budget "unconscionable."

Bridges Praises Humphrey

In the Senate, a key GOP appropriations figure, Sen. Styles

Bridges (R-N.H.), praised Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey's call for reduced spending and promised, "If I can find a way to cut this budget, I'm going to do it."

The economy drive — an annual affair in Congress, not usually crowned with much success — got under way with an official blessing from Mr. Eisenhower. The President conceded at his news conference Wednesday that $70-plus billion is a lot of money to take out of the economy through taxes to pay for government spending.

The President said he agreed with Humphrey that Congress should cut his budget if the lawmakers can find a place to save "another dollar." It is "their duty to do it," he said.

Doesn't Say Where

Humphrey recently told a news conference "there are a lot of places" where the budget might be reduced. But he steadfastly refused in daylong questioning by appropriations committee members Wednesday to pinpoint even one.

"He indicated it should be lower, but he did not say where it could be cut," Taber commented at the close of the committee session.

Cannon complained after Humphrey's appearance that the committee is "just as much at sea as we were before we heard Secretary Humphrey. He didn't point out where we could cut the budget one cent."

Soviets Warn of A-Retaliations in Doctrine Reply

LONDON (AP)—Nations of the free world today viewed the Soviet Union's "atomic retaliation" warning as Moscow's reply to the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East. All agreed it can not be ignored.

The Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda said Wednesday the United States may turn the Middle East and the Far East into "hotbeds of atomic warfare" by carrying out reported plans to establish atom-armed American units in Turkey, Iran, Japan and Okinawa.

But in Washington, President Eisenhower left open the question of whether U. S. forces might be armed with atomic weapons if forced to fight Communist aggression in the Middle East.

He said a final decision has not been reached, although his proposed "doctrine" for the Middle East promises to use force if necessary to battle Communist aggression.

Mr. Eisenhower also said one of the chief aims of his administration during the next four years will be to achieve a better understanding with the Soviet Union.

Western observers in Moscow read in the article the same veiled threat against the Eisenhower Doctrine that they saw in Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's "rocket weapon" note of last November.

That note warned Britain and France to stop their attack on Egypt and pointed out that "there are countries which need not have sent a navy or air force to the coasts of Britain but could have used other means, such as rocket techniques."

Rule Adoptions Not Barred by Religious Faiths

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Illinois Supreme Court today ruled that state adoption laws to not bar adoptions where the adopting parents do not hold the same religious faith as the family of the child sought for adoption.

The high court, in an opinion written by Justice George W. Bristol, Chicago, said the statutes do not "bar adoption irrespective of all other factors merely because the adopting parents are of a different religious persuasion than the child."

The case before the court was an appeal by Mr. and Mrs. Dwane Cooper, Belvidere, a Protestant couple, from a Boone County Court order denying their petition to adopt twin girls baptized in the Catholic Church. The county court decision had been upheld by the appellate courts.

The Supreme Court reversed the lower court decision and ordered the case back to the County Court to determine "whether in the discretion of the court the adoption... would in fact promote the best interests of the children."

The twins were born March 28, 1954, to Mrs. Joan Hinrichs, some five months after she and her husband, Rudolph, were divorced. The father was a Lutheran, and consented to the adoption.

Mrs. Hinrichs had signed an agreement for adoption, but later repudiated it.

British Doctor Ordered on Trial for Murder

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) — Dr. John Bodkin Adams was ordered today to stand trial for the murder of one of his wealthy widow patients.

A bench of five magistrates ordered the 58-year-old family physician to trial for the murder of 81-year-old Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell after nine days of evidence at a preliminary hearing.

The prosecution had demanded that he stand trial for Mrs. Morrell's death on Nov. 13, 1953. The defense had asked that either he be freed or tried on a lesser charge based on criminal negligence.

The crown has charged that Adams systematically converted Mrs. Morrell into a narcotics addict and then gave fatal doses in the last two weeks of her life. It said he was motivated by a desire to inherit items left to him in her will.

The defense argued that the crown had failed to make a case that would be believed by any "reasonably minded jury." Defense Counsel Geoffrey Lawrence said it was within the court's power to discharge Adams completely or to bring him to trial for manslaughter, "an unintentional killing, the result of some gross or criminal negligence."

Lawrence centered his fire on the testimony of Scotland Yard detective superintendent Herbert Hannam, the man who arrested Adams.

Lawrence keyed his attack to a conversation between Hannam and Adams which took place on Nov. 24, 1956. Hannam testified that Adams admitted giving to Mrs. Morrell a series of narcotic doses. Lawrence pointed out that there were no witnesses to this conversation, since detective inspector Brynley Pugh of the Eastbourne police, who accompanied Hannam to the doctor's office, was out of the room at the time.

Two Guardsmen On Final Leg of March for Polio

CHRISTOPHER, Ill. (AP) — Two young National Guardsmen set out today on the final leg of a four-day march for the March of Dimes.

One of them vows that unless they collect "at least $2,500.01" he will stand until midnight at an intersection in West Frankfort collecting funds.

Pfc. Jerry Plasters, 19, and Larry Yates, 18, started in Christopher today. A stop in Benton is planned before they wind up their march in West Frankfort, where they live.

The first three days of the march netted about $1,000 for polio.

Plasters, who made the vow to collect funds at the intersection of Ill. 37 and 149 in West Frankfort until midnight, said "I don't want a Marine to beat Plasters and Yates."

Marines have made the polio march the last two years.

Sentenced for Bank Robberies

CHICAGO (AP) — Edward L. Arnold, 28, Kenosha, Wis., has been sentenced to five years in federal penitentiary for his part in two bank robberies.

Arnold pleaded guilty. He had admitted the robberies when he was captured at Oregon, Ill., last summer after a theft there, and implicated two other men—Edward W. Riley, 33, also of Kenosha, and Edward Bond Jr., 30, Plainfield, Ill.

Bond hanged himself in a jail cell last August. Riley was sentenced earlier this month to five years.

The three robbed the Ixonia, Wis., State Bank of $4,761 in July, 1955, and the Lake Villa, Ill., Trust and Savings Bank of $4,172 last June.

Kansas City Paper To Ask Review Of Conviction

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Kansas City Star will request a review by the U. S. Supreme Court of its conviction for anti-trust act violation.

The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis Wednesday affirmed the conviction of the newspaper and its advertising director, Emil Sees.

Judge Charles J. Vögle said the court found no basis for the Star's contention that freedom of the press was involved.

Diamond Necklace Brings $385,000 At Art Auction

NEW YORK (AP) — A diamond necklace once priced at $750,000 was auctioned off Wednesday for $385,000—believed to be the largest sum ever bid for a single art object here.

The 213-carat necklace was sold to a jewelry dealer representing a five-man syndicate during an auction of jewelry and books from the collection of the late Mrs. John E. Rovinsky.

The Parke-Bernet galleries were jammed with 5,000 buyers and spectators while other art objects were sold at prices ranging from $116,000 to $80. Sales totaled $1,122,865 for the day. Some dealers said they believed it was the first day-long auction to bring over $1,000,000.

Mrs. Rovinsky died last July 21. She was the former Mae Caldwell Manwaring Plant Hayward who married Rovinsky, her fourth husband, in 1954.

She had inherited $50 million

Chester Squirrels Are Given Clean Bill of Health

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — The squirrels in Chester can breathe easier now. They have been given a clean bill of health.

Two squirrels were ordered killed and tested by state officials after four persons were bitten last month. Preliminary tests showed the squirrels did not have rabies, but the four persons began taking shots anyhow.

Final tests for rabies turned out negative. If they had been positive, Police Chief Ben Athmer planned to declare open season on squirrels.

from her second husband, Morton F. Plant, of New London, Conn., in 1918 and her Newport home, "Clarendon Court," from her third husband, Col. William Hayward, in 1944. She received an additional million dollars from the estate of Philip M. Plant, adopted son of Commodore Plant, in 1945.

Cold Air Blast Halts Rise of Streams in East

By United Press
A fresh blast of frigid air over-spread most of the eastern third of the nation today, tumbling temperatures by as much as 40 to 50 degrees in N. England.

However, the cold air stopped the rise of northeastern streams and rivers, swollen by melting snow and heavy rains.

The Allegheny River hit flood stage in some areas of Pennsylvania, but no serious flooding was reported. At Pittsburgh, the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers exceeded normal pool stage, but remained below flood stage.

Several streams in the Cleveland area overflowed Wednesday, but receded to their banks as temperatures dropped.

Clearing weather followed the arrival of the cold wave, ending heavy rains that dumped a record 2.26 inches of precipitation at Buffalo, N. Y. The fall was a new 24-hour high for January.

Indiana Supreme Court Studies Irvin's Bid for New Trial

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana Supreme Court justices today held the fate of Leslie Irvin, condemned killer accused of six "Chinese execution" style slayings in Indiana and Kentucky.

The five justices heard two hours of oral arguments Wednesday in Irvin's bid for a new trial. He was convicted in Gibson County in 1955 and sentenced to die in the electric chair for one of the slayings. The execution date, twice postponed, now stands at March 29.

Observers believed it would be several months before the high court makes a decision on defense attorneys' contention "spectacular" coverage of the case and trial by newspaper and radio caused the jurors to be "biased and prejudiced."

Meanwhile, Irvin probably will get another stay of execution while the court ponders the case.
